Course Details

LaLiga Formation Methodology courses outline the philosophy and methods used across LaLiga to train, develop and form some of the world's top players. There are three levels, with Level 3 serving as an introduction to the comprehensive development strategies used by the top professional league in the world. Level 2 will serve as the intermediate stage, and Level 1 expands further on coaching education methods with time in Spain working directly with Spanish academies.

The approximately 22-hour Level 2 course is generally conducted over 2½-3 days and includes theory (classroom) and practical (field) sessions. Topics include:

- Know and understand the different players needs and requirements per position and game model.
- Individualize the training regarding player specificity and demands.
- Set different exercises to work specifically by lines and positions.
- Apply different principles of the game model to training to match our intervention to the reality of the game.
- Learn the different fundamentals and characteristics of the development stage and its application.
- Introduce the goalkeeper role and training fundamentals.
- Learn different technologies applied to the game from multiple roles: coaching, scouting, analyzing, etc.
- Set coherent programming in short and medium term adapted to their own reality and player characteristics.
